I met Kristina in my high school chorus class. She had a beautiful singing voice and her speaking voice sounded like an actual angel even when she wasn't happy about something. Before the semester was over she allowed me to call her Tina as a nickname and I've been calling her that ever since. We were not best friends and we did not hang out all the time but every time I seen her we spoke and had us a good laugh. I will never forget how she showed me love and kindness even when the world was not kind to her. She will be truly missed and never forgotten. Rest easy sweet girl your voice will forever be played in my head
